Report Archive - Field Guide

What goes in each field, and how it reaches the client

ABOUT THIS DOCUMENT

Report Archive - Field Guide

The Report Archive tool (Core section of the Hub) publishes directly to the Client Portal - whatever is saved here is exactly what the client sees on their end, with no extra editing step in between. It has three fields, and that's the entire data model.

The Report Archive tool (Core section of the Hub) publishes directly to the Client Portal - whatever is saved here is exactly what the client sees on their end, with no extra editing step in between. It has three fields, and that's the entire data model.

The fields - what goes in each one

1. Month / Year - Free text. The label the client sees on their portal timeline, and what it's sorted by. Keep it consistent month to month so the timeline reads cleanly - don't mix formats like "Oct 2024" and "November 2024" for the same client. Example: October 2024
2. Report URL - Link. Wherever the actual report lives - Looker Studio dashboard, a PDF, a Google Drive file, etc. This is what the client clicks through to. Sharing permissions have to already be set so the client can open it without requesting access. Example: <https://lookerstudio.google.com/reporting/...>
3. Executive Summary / Notes - Short text, client-facing. A plain-language summary shown directly on the portal alongside the link - this is the only written context the client gets without opening the report itself. No internal jargon, no mentions of other clients or internal tooling. Example: "Strong month for organic reach - up 22% MoM. Paid spend held flat while CPL dropped. Full breakdown in the linked dashboard."

Where it fits - how this connects to the Monthly Reporting SOP

The wiki's separate "Monthly Reporting SOP" article defines which report types go out to which clients and how often - that SOP governs production and QC. The Report Archive tool is the last step in that process: once a report is built and has passed QC (Universal QC + the Monthly Report section of the QC Checklist), the finished link and a short summary get published here.

Report Type	Who Gets It	Cadence
Monthly Performance Report	All clients	Monthly
Monthly Paid Social Report	Paid Social clients	Monthly
Monthly Google Ads Report	Paid Search clients	Monthly
Monthly SEO Report	SEO clients	Monthly
Monthly Email Report	Email Marketing clients	Monthly
Monthly Website Report	Website / SEO clients	Monthly

Report Type	Who Gets It	Cadence
Monthly Inbound Report	Inbound clients	Monthly
Monthly Strategy Report	Strategy clients	Monthly

Full detail on producing each report type (owner, template, QC section, email template) lives in the Monthly Reporting SOP itself - this table is just to confirm what should eventually show up as an entry in the Archive.

Before you publish - quick checklist

- [] Correct client is selected in the left panel before saving - entries can't be moved between clients afterward.
- [] Report link opens for the client without requesting access (test the sharing permissions, not just that the link loads for you).
- [] Month / Year matches the format already used for this client's prior entries.
- [] Report has already passed QC per the Monthly Reporting SOP / QC Checklist - the Archive is a publishing step, not a QC step.
- [] Executive Summary is client-safe: no internal jargon, no other-client references, no unfinished thoughts.
